Summary

Software Developer with great experience in mobile development, using React Native and Redux Saga; and web development, using React.js, bare HTML/CSS/Sass, PHP and JavaScript ES6/7/8, as I have also worked in many projects using Wordpress and C#/.NET.

Furthermore, as working in mobile development using React Native, I have learned a little of Android and iOS native languages in many cases when React Native updates got some incompatibility with the current native files, so I had to fix it up by updating manually those files.

My 3 years of experiences include companies applications development, in-app services development and e-commerce apps. My current job is an e-commerce development for the largest international e-commerce Company in Latin America, called Americanas S.A. This is the most famous brand group behind giant Brazilian e-commerce names, such as Americanas.com, Submarino.com, Soubarato.co, Shoptime.com and Ingresso.com.

In search of more experience and self-development, to improve my tech skills and to be part of great projects. And I guess this Company is a great opportunity for me to achieve that. I am always opened to learn and adapt my skills - as I have been doing it all along my career - so I know I can fit well for this position, and I can do much for this Company.
